Questions 4-6 are about the following article.

Eleven students at Middlebury Junior High School returned this week from their trip to Hawaii. The students spent two weeks helping an environmental agency with their work. This agency, Environmental Ocean Life, works to preserve and protect the plants and animals that live in Hawaii's waters. Every year, they test the water and check on the plants and animals to make sure they are doing well in their environments. The Middlebury students joined them for two weeks to help them with their water tests.

The students reported that they had no idea how many different things could be tested. "We learned a lot," said Justin Lim, a seventh-grade student. "We learned how to measure salinity, which is how much salt is in the water. Some plants and animals need certain levels of salinity to stay alive."

The agency thanked the students for their help by giving them the gift of a surfing lesson. "I never thought I'd be surfing in Hawaii," said Nancy Jones, another seventh-grade student. She was very grateful to Environmental Ocean Life. "Not only did they teach me and my classmates so much about the Pacific Ocean around Hawaii, but they also gave us a surfing lesson. They are so cool!"

Questions 7-9 are about the following passage.

Global Warming is the idea that the world's temperature began to increase in the twentieth century and is continuing to increase. During the twentieth century, the global surface temperature went up by approximately 0.6 degrees Celsius. This may not seem like a lot, but this type of temperature rise is very unusual, considering Earth's history.

Scientists believe that today's global warming is not caused by nature. Instead, it is humans who are causing it. Human activity is causing Earth's atmosphere to change. Carbon emissions from factories, livestock industry, airplanes, and automobiles are all threats to the ozone layer of the atmosphere.

It may seem like fun to have a world without winter, but global warming may result in the melting of the polar ice caps and rising sea levels. This would destroy coastal towns and cities and wipe out a lot of animal species. This is not something anybody wants.

Question

7. What would be the best title for the passage?

- (A) Melting Polar Ice Caps
- (B) Mere 0.6 Degrees Celsius
- (C) Earth's Changing Atmosphere
- (D) The Globe's Temperature Increase

8. In line 3, the word This refers to _____.

- (A) Earth's history
- (B) Global Warming
- (C) 0.6 degrees Celsius
- (D) the twentieth century

9. In line 6, the word it refers to _____.

- (A) today
- (B) the problem
- (C) human activity
- (D) global warming

Yes, it is good for students. My first reason is that students need to rest. Some people feel that they don't want to go on school too much and they feel sleepy so they can't consertrait.

My next reason is that I think five days is ena enough to learn because they have ~~XXXXXX~~ school 8:00 to 4:15. If I add it we can learn 40 hours. That was my reason bye.
